WELCOME TO THE WINES OF THE NORTHWEST AND OLD WORLD CLASSICS

AND PARTAKE OF RARE TREASURES FROM THROUGHOUT THE WORLD!

Our cellar of more than 23,000 bottles encompasses what is most likely America's largest selection of Northwest wines, as well as many rare and hard-to-find bottles from throughout the world.

Explore the best the world has to offer. Our sommeliers are pleased to offer advice as well as to fulfill your requests.

To the best of our knowledge, the wines in our collection have been kept under controlled temperatures and humidity since their release. Though we believe our older bottles to be sound, each wine has its own history. For some wines of this age, there are often no good wines or vintages per se, just good bottles.

OUR FOOD & WINE PHILOSOPHY: EXPERIENCE THE FLAVORS OF THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST

We believe that no dish can be better than its ingredients, and that the best ingredients are usually local.

Freshness is ephemeral and geography expresses itself in the taste of the food—sometimes subtly and sometimes profoundly. The foods and wines of our region share a similar motherhood of soil and weather, making for happier culinary marriages than those from dissimilar climates.

The Herbfarm believes that chefs who cook with local ingredients—season by season, year after year—develop a more complete understanding of their foods than chefs who do not. This understanding can give rise to greater expressions of the food, its preparation, and enjoyment.

The Herbfarm believes that supporting local farmers, foragers, cheesemakers, wineries, and fishermen helps preserve and promote the foundation of regional cuisines.

DRINK THE BEST WINES OF THIS EXCITING REGION!

Because The Herbfarm showcases the foods of the Northwest, we believe that the wines of this region are typically the best accompaniments to the flavors of the foods on our menus. Therefore, we do our best to secure the finest and most interesting wines from the 900 wineries within a day's drive. We define our region as from the Russian River in California to British Columbia to the north, and from Puget Sound and the Willamette Valley in the west to the high vineyards of Idaho to the east.

ENJOY CELLAR-AGED WINE

Sadly, most wine in America is consumed within a few hours of its purchase. Similarly, most restaurants deal with current vintages and releases to optimize inventory turns. The result is that many people have not experienced the pleasure of well-aged wine with complex organic and earthy aromas and flavors. The Herbfarm offers not only current releases, but great depth of mature wine for you to explore.

CORKAGE FOR YOUR BOTTLE

We will gladly open any standard-size bottle not on our list for $35 per bottle. We ask that you make advance arrangements for bringing your special bottle. One bottle per couple; two bottle per party maximum.

TAKE SOME WINE HOME, TOO

The Herbfarm is rare among Washington State restaurants in that our liquor license also allows us to sell bottles for you to take home. If you see something you're interested in for your home cellar (or as a great gift), let us know. Many of the bottles on this list are, to the best of our knowledge, available nowhere else.

Argyle Winery's Roland Soles has a master's degree in enology from UC Davis. He crafts some of the finest sparkling wines in America. They've been served on a number of occasions at the White House.

St. Innocent's Mark Vlossak was reading an article in Esquire magazine years ago. André Tchelistcheff said that Oregon might one day produce America's best sparkling wines. Inspired, Mark came to Oregon. Unfortunately, the time and economics of sparkling wines mean that these are the last St. Innocent sparklers. Enjoy them while they last!

FRENCH CHAMPAGNE
Champagne

THE GROWER-PRODUCERS
RÉCOLTANT - MANIPULANT

Though the best-known names in Champagne are still the venerable “Houses,” there’s a growing trend for the grape growers themselves to make Champagne. What is the difference? The big houses tell us that the greatness of Champagne comes from the ability to blend, to create a distinctive house style that can be experienced bottle after bottle, year after year. The growers counter that they are expressing terrior, a sense of place, in their bottles. Is one right and the other wrong? Not at all. While blending may be the most traditional, there’s ample room to find pleasures in both camps. Discover these grower producers:

CHAMPAGNE

Only drink Champagne when I'm happy — and when I'm sad. When I have company, I consider it obligatory. I trifle with it if I am not hungry and drink it when I am. Otherwise, I never touch it — unless I'm thirsty. Madame “Lily” Bollinger (1899-1977)

THE CHAMPAGNE HOUSES

The house of Bollinger makes full-bodied Champagnes. Bollinger Champagnes show a smoky, hazelnutty complexity that is hard to beat

Lily Bollinger

Bollinger, founded in 1829, is one of Champagne's few remaining family-owned Grande Marque houses. It is renowned for the high percentage of Pinot Noir and for the extra aging on the lees (spent yeast) that its Champagnes receive.

Dom Pérignon (1639-1715), was the first Champagne master blender and the first to use corks as stoppers for Champagne.

“My tastes are simple. I am easily satisfied with the best.”—Churchill

CHAMPAGNE

The house of Krug stands nearly alone for the complexity of its wines and the meticulousness with which they are made.

The Krugs are unwavering keepers of tradition in prestige Champagne. Krug still ferments its wines in small oak casks and cellars them for at least six to eight years before release. Krug's Champagnes can age for decades and—due to their richness, depth, and complexity—are best enjoyed with food rather than as an aperitif.

Sir Winston Churchill was a friend of the Pol Roger clan, even naming a racehorse after the hhh house. After Churchill's death, Pol Roger's finest Champagne was named for the great leader. It is rich, with power and finesse, much like the great man himself.

run a range of styles. Washington State Chardonnay tends to be a fuller style than those from Oregon, but the best Oregons can be very sophisticated indeed.

We especially like Washington Chardonnay whose fruit has come from the Celilo Vineyard and Cold Creek Vineyards, though there are some other great sites, too.

In Oregon, the new Dijon Chardonnay clones are now expressing themselves. These clones make a huge difference, allowing good producers to make Chardonnays very reminiscent of white Burgundy.

CHARDONNAYS OF THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST

Eric Lemelson was an environmental attorney before opening his own winery near Carlton, Oregon. The 1999 Lemelson Vineyards' Wascher Vineyard is a profound Chardonnay. The 10-year-old Dijon clone fruit will change the way you think about Chardonnays from Oregon. Fabulous balance.

NEW ZEALAND SAUVIGNON BLANC

New Zealand Sauvignon Blanc is produced in several styles. The most thrilling to its worldwide audience is the stainless-steel fermented version from the South Island (Marlborough in particular). Here you experience the mouthwatering and dazzling flavors of gooseberry, lime, and passion fruit.

OREGON PINOT BLANC & MELON

Myron Redford founded Amity Vineyards in 1976. He is a leading proponent of Oregon Pinot Blanc. His version expresses beautiful fruit and a zesty, mineral-like backbone which makes it one of the most food-friendly wines for the table.

Germany's Ernst Loosen is one of the world's experts and proponents of Riesling. He has been so impressed with Château Ste. Michelle's Cold Creek Vineyard Riesling that he formed a joint venture to make Washington State Riesling, "Eroica," an off-dry table version and "Single Berry," an awesome dessert-style wine that will age for 50 years.

Melon what?

Melon is the "Melon de Bourgogne" grape. It was a native of Burgundy until it was all uprooted in the early 1700s. From there it was introduced in the Loire Valley where today it makes the famous Muscadet wines. Oregon Melons tend to be a bit fuller-bodied and fruitier than those of the Loire in France. They are a nice accompaniment to lighter seafoods and summer vegetables. The best of them can age for some years.

David "Papa Pinot" Lett, The Eyrie Vineyards

Oregon Pinot Noir
OREGON PINOT NOIR

THE BEGINNING OF THE MODERN ERA

IN OREGON WINE

*The 1975 Eyrie Vineyards
 South Block Pinot Noir*

in 1979, the French food and wine magazine GaultMillau sponsored an "Olympics of the Wines of the World." Thirty-three of the world's wine regions entered 586 wines. In the final blind-tasting competitions, the Eyrie Vineyards' 1975 Oregon Pinot Noir placed third in the Burgundy category. For the French, there was a good deal of consternation regarding the number of foreign wines that had outscored the "home team" in the Olympiads. Twelve of these winners were challenged to a rematch to take place in the heart of Burgundy itself.

On the 8th of January, 1980, 20 French, English, and American wine judges gathered in Beaune at the 1,000-year-old Hall of Justice of the Dukes of Burgundy. The six top-scoring foreign Pinot Noirs and Chardonnays from the Olympiads were judged again, this time against the finest Burgundies of the best vintages.

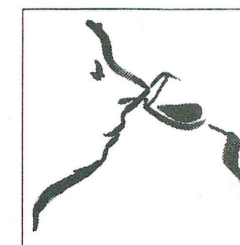

The Eyrie Vineyards' 1975 South Block Pinot Noir finished just two-tenths of a point behind the 1959 Joseph Drouhin Chambolle-Musigny. The result was seen (at least at the time in America) as a far-reaching victory for the vision of Eyrie's founder, David Lett, who moved from California to Oregon to pursue his controversial plan to grow Pinot Noir in cool climatic conditions.

As a result of these Wine Olympics, others took notice, and the seeds of the modern era in Oregon viticulture were planted. With the help of David Adelsheim and David Lett, Robert Drouhin—scion of the 120-year-old French négociant firm Maison Joseph Drouhin—invested 10-million dollars in the 1980s to create Domaine Drouhin

Oregon, which is now overseen by his charismatic daughter, Véronique Drouhin-Boss.

The Willamette Valley is considered America's promised land for Pinot Noir. Although there are many that dispute Oregon's excellence with the grape, the best producers here make Pinot Noir as good as or better than any in America.
 —Doug Frost, M.S., M.W.

International
Pinot Noir
 Celebration

On the third weekend in July each year, Pinot Noir makers and lovers from around the world gather on the bucolic grounds of Linfield College in McMinnville, Oregon, for the International Pinot Noir Celebration. This is the premier event for Pinot Noir lovers.

OREGON

David Adelsheim is a pioneering Oregon winemaker, responsible for many of the high standards under which Oregon wines are made.

Myron Redford is a native of Seattle. He worked as a "cellar rat" at Associated Vintners (now the Columbia Winery in Woodinville) before relocating to Oregon. There he made his first barrel of Pinot Noir in 1976. Myron does things his own way, typically using little or no new oak on his Pinot Noirs. He believes that this approach lets the grape better speak for itself.

The decomposed volcanic soils of the Red Hills of Dundee really are red. This region was the first planted to Pinot Noir in Oregon and still remains the most densely planted in the state.

Bob Zimmerman

Michael Etzel crafts a large and elegant version of Pinot Noir. His beaux frère (brother-in-law) and partner is the wine critic, Robert M. Parker, Jr. As the years have passed, Michael's hand has lightened on the wine and they are now even more balanced and expressive. The wines of the mid-and-late 90s are drinking particularly well.

From his first planting in May of 1990 until today, former CBS newsman

Doug Tunnell has relied on the basics. All his fruit is estate grown and certified organic. All Brick House wines are produced and bottled by hand, and they're begun with indigenous (or wild) yeast fermentations.

Cameron's John Paul (the "Pope of Pinot") has a doctorate in oceanography. After working in Oregon, France, and New Zealand, he started Cameron in 1984. His best Pinot Noir comes from the old vines at Abbey Ridge and from his estate fruit "Clos Electrique," planted in clones from the Domaine de la Romanée-Conti in Burgundy.

Steve Doerner is a biochemist who crafted the Pinot Noir at Calera in California before making the move to Cristom in Oregon. Cristom estate vineyards are in the Eola-Amity Hills in the mid-Willamette Valley.

THE PINOT NOIRS OF OREGON

Véronique Drouhin-Boss crafts some of the most classic Pinot Noirs of Oregon at Domaine Drouhin Oregon. Veronique is the daughter of Robert Drouhin of the venerable Maison Joseph Drouhin in Beaune, France. DDO Pinot Noir shows a remarkable continuity of style across vintages. Like most fine Pinot Noir, the wines give their full potential with a few years in the cellar. "Laurène" and "Louise" are barrel-selected cuvées named after Véronique's daughters. The DDO Chardonnay is named after her son, Arthur.

Dick Erath, an electrical engineer by training, left the Bay Area to found his own winery in 1967. In 2006, Dick sold the winery to Chateau Ste. Michelle.

David Lett of the Eyrie Vineyards was essentially the founder of the modern wine era in Oregon. David died in October 2008. He had strong opinions and did not believe that Pinot Noir should be a "big wine." His versions were always elegant, long-lived, and really shine when combined with food in a fine meal—which is what Pinot Noir is all about.

Patricia Green Cellars

Patricia Green earned plenty of fans in her years as winemaker at Torii Mor. Now she and Jim Anderson have their own winery, Patricia Green Cellars, on Ribbon Ridge southwest of Portland and adjacent to Beaux Frères. Her wines attract the serious attention of Pinot Noir lovers.

Jim Anderson is the other half of the brains at Patricia Green. Patty and Jim use only wild, native yeast in making their wines, which is part of the secret of the complexity of the Patricia Green Pinot Noirs.

THE PINOT NOIRS OF OREGON

Lemelson Vineyards' fermenters are fed grapes from above by a rolling platform that was designed by Eric Lemelson. The winery is gravity-fed; the vineyards are organic.

Kelley Fox, the soul and spirit of Oregon wine.

L'Herbe Sauvage (the Wild Herb) is a wine created once a vintage by Patty Green exclusively for The Herbfarm. Cuvées created from Patty's best barrels are blind-tasted to create the annual blend, which, to date, have been rich, rounded, and elegant. Typically only 45 cases are created each vintage.

Scott Paul Wright relocated from Napa Valley to the Willamette Valley to become the general manager at Domaine Drouhin Oregon. Now he's moved on and is making Pinot Noir—or rather is letting Pinot Noir make itself. He uses wild yeast and never filters or manipulates his wines.

Peter Rosback of Sineann worked at Elk Cove and was smitten with the desire to start his own winery. He has been able to source the best vineyards of Oregon and Washington for some very interesting wines.

Susan Sokol Blosser's Oregon wine memoir takes us on a 40-year journey as this Reed College graduate learns to farm, to make wine, and participate in the founding of a whole, organic way of life based on the land, the vine, the family, and the human spirit.

THE PINOT NOIRS & WHITE PINOTS OF OREGON

A Witness Tree is a surveyor's marker point. Witness Tree Winery is named for the ancient oak at the top of the property that has been a survey marker since 1854.

Dr. Don Olson's Torii Mor Winery seeks to make a big-style Pinot Noir. Patty Green was the first winemaker. Jacques Tardy, originally from Burgundy, became the Torii Mor winemaker in 2005.

David Autrey is the "trey" in Westrey. The "Wes" is his wife, Amy Wessleman. Both were philosophy majors at Reed College. They contend that philosophers make good winemakers because they are "good at holding two contradictory views at the same time"—a useful ability in a craft that's as much art as science. Autrey says, "overcoming Oregon's intrinsic problems—a cool, wet climate—means "not looking at stock solutions, but considering the wide variety of options you have."

To the casual observer, it might seem unlikely that the Northwest corner of the United States could produce powerful red wines of distinction. After all, isn't this a region famous for its rain? Yet the massive peaks of the Cascade Mountains block the ocean storms and keep the inland vineyards warm and dry. Amazingly, there is far less rainfall than in Napa Valley. These are wines of both power and of polish, typically falling somewhere between the boldness of California and the elegance of Bordeaux.

Abeja (a-Bay-hah) is a beautiful winery and country inn just outside of Walla Walla, Washington.

Piero Antinori's attraction to distinctive viticultural regions brought him from Italy to Washington in 1990. Impressed, he formed a joint venture with Château Ste. Michelle to make a unique red wine blend named "Col Solare"—Shining Hill.

In the 1960s, University of Washington professors begin making wine in a garage. In 1967, Associated Vintners becomes a full-fledged winery, and in 1979 hires Master of Wine, David Lake, as winemaker. In the early '80s, Associated Vintners changes its name to Columbia Winery and moves to its current location in Woodinville, Washington. The late David Lake retired in 2006, having been instrumental in introducing major innovations to Washington, including the state's first single-vineyard-designated bottling and the grape varietal Syrah (see page 77).

Chris Upchurch crafts DeLille Cellars' elegant Bordeaux-style blends at their winery just a mile from The Herbfarm. The New York Times named DeLille "Winery of the Year" in 2000 after tasting 8,000 wines.

Leonetti Cellars

Garry & Chris Figgins create some of the most sought-after Cabernets and Merlots in America at Leonetti Cellars in Walla Walla. Their wines have appeared on the Wine Spectator "Top 100 Wines of the Year" many, many times.

*1978: This is the wine that started the Washington wine industry as we now know it. Entered in its first competition, it was proclaimed the "Best Cabernet Sauvignon in America." The rest, as they say, is history. As of 2009, we estimate that there are perhaps 15 or fewer bottles of the 1978 left in the world.

Alex Golitzin and his son, Paul, of Quilceda Creek make one of the great Cabernets in America. Alex's uncle, André Tchelistcheff (legendary winemaker at BV in Napa Valley), advised him in the early years.

"There is no producer in the world that fashions Cabernet Sauvignons as consistently extraordinary as Quilceda Creek."

NORTHWEST MERLOT

Though Cabernet Sauvignon often steals the limelight, high-quality Merlot offers round suppleness. In general, we believe Washington is capable of making America's best Merlots.

CALIFORNIA CABERNET SAUVIGNON & PROPRIETARY BLENDS

In 1900, French-born Georges de Latour buys land in Napa Valley and founds a winery named after the "beautiful place" of the site.

In 1938, Latour finds a new winemaker in Paris, a 37-year-old Russian, André Tchelistcheff, who will become one of California's greatest winemakers of the 20th century. Tchelistcheff's nephew, Alex Goltizin, will found Quilceda Creek Winery in Washington State, page 64. Goltizin will go on to make some of the greatest Cabernets in Washington State at the Quilceda Creek Winery.

André Tchelistcheff

Beaulieu Vineyard (BV) is one of California's most historic wineries. It was founded 117 years ago by Georges de Latour. The Georges de Latour Private Reserve Cabernet Sauvignon was a benchmark for decades. Beaulieu continues the tradition of fine wines handed down by legendary winemaker André Tchelistcheff—the Maestro.

CALIFORNIA CABERNET SAUVIGNON & MERITAGE

The October 1949 issue of the Charles Krug "Bottles and Bins" newsletter.

At the urging of Robert Mondavi, his parents, Cesare and Rosa Mondavi, purchased the Charles Krug Winery in 1943. Later, Robert and brother Peter both ran the winery until Robert left the family firm to form the Robert Mondavi Winery in 1966.

The Herbfarm's complete collection of "Bottles and Bins" covers the historic period between 1949 and 1975 when Napa Valley's reputation was solidifying on the world wine stage.

Ann Colgin's "cult" Cabernets are among the most sought-after from Napa Valley. The Herb Lamb Vineyard Cabs are full-bodied and show rich blackberry, blueberry, lavender, licorice, and toast.

WHITE BURGUNDY: LE MONTRACHET

Le Montrachet

There are those who believe there is no finer white wine on the face of the earth than that of the vineyard of “Le Montrachet.” The plot of earth that produces this wine is tiny. The world is large. The price is astronomical. The Holy Grail of Chardonnay may just be “Le Montrachet.”

GERMAN RIESLING

Elegant, vibrant, and racy are descriptions of top-notch German Riesling. If you haven't tried these wines, there is no question that you have been missing something special. Since 2001, a continuing fine string of vintages make this a great time to explore this noble varietal. If you love older Rieslings, the famous 1976 vintage may be just the thing for you. Getränk Riesling, Gefühl Gemütlichkeit!

†Rieslaner is a cross of the Silvaner and Riesling grape that was first produced in Veitshöheim, Franconia, Germany in 1921. It is a late ripening grape that is fairly high in acidity and can produce vivid wines. Today it is mostly grown in the Franconia (Franken) region and in the Palatinate (Pfalz) region of Germany where the grape is often affected by botrytis.

1989	Peter Nicolay	Ürziger Würzgarten, Trockenbeerenauslese (750)	$345

ALSATIAN RIESLING

Alsace is one of the world's most charming wine regions. Spotless half-timbered villages are tucked every two kilometers along the "Route de Vin" at the base of the Vosges Mountains. The best are powerful and dramatic and can be enjoyed by themselves or even with red meat.

In the spring of 2003, former Herbfarm sommelier Christine Mayo spent two weeks in Austria, tasting and studying the wines of that beautiful land.

These wines are of themselves. They are not German wines in disguise, but distinctly Austrian—crisp, snappy, dry, and vigorous.

Grüner Veltliner is Austria's biggest claim to fame. This is a grape that, like Chardonnay, can make wines that span the range from a zingy thirst-quencher to a big, robust wine.

There are only about 500 acres of the Roter Veltliner grape in the world. It produces a slightly fuller wine with apple-skin characteristics.

The Loire River Valley hosts some of the greatest white wines in the world, stunning, thrilling wines that should be much better known. The leading white grapes are Sauvignon Blanc and Chenin Blanc. Both are grapes that produce unique examples of themselves in only a tiny number of other places in the world.

LES VINS BLANCS DU VALLÉE DE LA LOIRE

Florent Baumard, head of Domaine des Baumard, says that “80% of wine is made in the vineyard—but the 20% that takes place at the pressing in the winery can ruin the 80% if not handled properly.” The fresh press juice is blanketed with CO<sub>2</sub> to prevent oxidation. Baumard’s grape pressing is so gentle that each batch takes six hours to complete.

Loire Valley Chenin Blanc

Expect a varying cocktail of racy flavors and aromas: honey, flowers, perfume, peach, apple, quince, lemon, wax, oil, limestone, and straw. As the world’s greatest and most exciting Chenin Blancs, expect those of the Loire to exhibit layers of unfolding flavors.

Decoding the Label

Sec=dry

Demi-Sec=a little sweet and richer, a bit fleshier than sec.

Möelleux=pretty darn sweet, but usually offset with lively acidity. Wonderful with spicy food. Or pair it with blue cheese or not-too-sweet desserts.

Trie=a picking pass through the vineyard. Chenin Blanc doesn’t ripen all of its grapes at the same time. The pickers are usually looking for ripe grapes touched with botrytis. Tries are usually 7 to 10 days apart.

RED BURGUNDY LES VINS ROUGES DU BOURGOGNE

BURGUNDY

BURGUNDY, the wine and the region, is quite likely the finest and most intriguing areas in the wine kingdom. Thanks to the French Revolution and to Napoleonic law, the vineyards—and hence the wines—of Burgundy (Bourgogne in French) are also among the world's most complicated.

But don't let that stop you. Arguably no other wines so express a sense of place as those of Burgundy. Though Pinot Noir and Chardonnay dominate the region, the wines are not about Pinot Noir or Chardonnay. Burgundy is about what a particular site has to say about Pinot Noir and Chardonnay. They are the voices through which the message is expressed.

Burgundy is produced in small quantities. Please enjoy our selections of Burgundy wines.

RED BURGUNDY: DOMAINE DE LA ROMANÉE-CONTI

“A fabulous thing—mysterious, sensuous, transcendental, the greatest wine in the dukedom of Burgundy, once reserved for the table of princes, its origins blurred in the mists of time—cannot help but spawn fabulists. For two centuries, no wine—no vineyard—has so deeply and so consistently motivated man’s mythologizing instinct as La Romanée-Conti.”

RED BURGUNDY

CÔTEAUX CHAMPENOIS

A few hundred years ago, Champagne was famous for its red wines. The most coveted of these came from the best vineyards of Aÿ. La Côte aux Enfants is a superb vineyard of fewer than two acres in the heart of the famous grand cru of Aÿ. Bollinger uses this Pinot Noir to make a red Côteaux Champenois, a still red wine of the Champagne region. Only a tiny quantity is produced in the very best years.

RED BORDEAUX LES VINS ROUGES DU BORDEAUX

BORDEAUX derives from "au bord de l'eau," meaning "along the waters." The region of Bordeaux lies along the path of three important French rivers—the mighty Gironde estuary and the two significant rivers that feed it, the Dordogne and the Garonne. The Atlantic Ocean is only an hour to the west.

Oak fermentation tanks at Château Mouton Rothschild

Bordeaux is both literally and psychologically a red wine region. Eighty percent of the wine is red. Five red wine grape varieties are grown here, and they are almost always blended together. The two dominant and indigenous grapes are Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot. Cabernet Franc, Petit Verdot, and Malbec are also grown. Sémillon and Sauvignon Blanc are the predominant white grapes of Barsac and Sauternes. See page 142 for the great dessert wines of Bordeaux.

Unlike wines often made from these same grapes in places like California and Australia, Bordeaux wines are about elegance and intensity of flavor. They are rarely massive or powerful.

Please enjoy our 250 selections of fine Bordeaux wines.

RED BORDEAUX: SAINT-ESTÈPHE

SAINT-ESTÈPHE

Cos d'Estournel is the leading estate in Saint-Estèphe. Its high proportion of Merlot gives it a delicious plummy flavor and a more perfumed nose than most other wines on the clay soils typical of Saint-Estèphe.

"I hasten to renew my thanks and I take the liberty of asking for a favour. The excellent wines called La Fite are produced by your people. If you have some of the 1784 vintage, and if you could accommodate me with 250 bottles, I would be infinitely grateful. If it is possible to have them bottled at your place, this would be a guarantee that the wine is natural and well drawn....Will you then allow me sir, to call on you directly anytime I need wines produced by your house?"

RED BORDEAUX: PAUILLAC

Château Latour is a model of excellence in great as well as moere vintages. When mature, it shows powerful, yet-balanced black currant, leather, cedar, and mineral scents and flavors.

Impressively situated on the Pauillac-St.-Julien border, Château Latour's vineyard can be identified by its cream-colored, fortress-like "tour," or tower. The tower was used in the exciting 15th century to fend off marauding pirates. In these slightly more civilized days, Latour is better known for producing consistently superb wines, whether in great, average, or so-so vintages. is an impeccable wine of great power. Latour is also one of the most concentrated, rich, and full-bodied wines in the world. For these reasons many feel that Château Latour is the Médoc's finest wine.

Château Latour keeps separate the harvest of its young vines and other vineyard sites within its property that it deems not "grand" enough. These are used to create the Château's second label, Les Forts de Latour. The character of Les Forts de Latour is very similar to the First Growth Latour, only lighter and quicker to mature.

BORDELAIS WINES OF OTHER REGIONS

SLOVENIAN MERLOT BLENDS FROM SIMCIC

Simcic, one of Europe's greatest winemakers, calls his wines "controversial." Just over the Italian border, in the nature-based zone of Goriška Brda in Slovenia, Simcic is turning traditional heads with his stunningly daring wines. Imagine Picasso in his time and you get the idea.

His "Duet" is pure Simcic: bold, compelling, stirring. Its richness is like dessert—chocolate, cherries, cheesecake, coffee. The silky tannins underscore a lush, ripe fruit of full body that goes on and on. The "Riserva" comes from extremely low yields and is richly layered with plum, dark tea, and woodsmoke, a combination that makes it a monumental achievement.

IN RED

Bruno Giacosa is a third-generation winemaker. He respects tradition yet believes that the wines of the Piedmont are better today than ever. Giacosa's wines are marvelously perfumed on the nose; meaty and full-bodied on the palate. They have a suppleness and elegance that few wines in the region can match.

ITALIAN RED

Dr. Riccardo Cotarella may not yet be a household name in America. But this immensely talented enologist from a prominent winemaking family has almost single-handedly put the wine of Umbria, Campania, and southern Italy on the world map.

Cotarella is a pioneer, an advocate for many traditional Italian grape varieties, and a proponent of winemaking techniques that elevate the quality of wines. His expertise spans every aspect of winemaking and the telling results are wines that often rank among the best in the world.

WINES OF RICCARDO COTARELLA

SICILIA

Morgante

1999 Morgante Nero d'Avola, “Don Antonio,” IGT $67
100% Nero d'Avola, the best native grape of Sicily. The vineyards were planted in 1970 and 1975. Don Antonio is a reserve-level wine from the estate's finest fruit and shows scents of herbs and wild flowers. The wine is rich, delicious, and full of fruit and spicy tannins. 92 points, Wine Advocate.

CAMPANIA

Montevetrano

2001 Montevetrano Montevetrano, Colli di Salerno, IGT $125
Silvia Imperato employed Riccardo Cotarella to enhance the quality of her family vineyards in Montevetrano in the hills not far from Salerno. Cotarella is particularly fond of this wine, which is blended from 60% Cabernet, 30% Merlot, and 10% Aglianico. The nose is intense, with red berry, tobacco, and leather. Very full, structured, and elegant.

ABRUZZO

Antonio & Elio Monti

2001 Monti Montepulciano d'Abruzzo, “Pignotto,” IGT $79
Pignotto is a single-vineyard, 100% Montepulciano d'Abruzzo wine. The crop load is dropped in August to intensify the ripening of the remaining grapes picked in October. Pignotto is huge and intense, with notes of dark cherry, cassis, and jam. Black fruit flavors coat the palate, rounded with hints of leather and licorice.
A tremendous wine.

UMBRIA/LAZIO

Falesco

2000 Falesco Montiano, IGT $75
Riccardo Cotarella founded Falesco in 1979 with the aim of improving Lazio's traditional varietals. The winery is about 50 miles outside of Rome. This single-vineyard Merlot is full-bodied, round, soft on the palate, and has an elegant, lingering finish.

FRENCH DESSERT WINES

Vin de Paille
("Straw Wine")

The grapes are harvested in October or November, then dried on straw mats for two months prior to vinification. These are extraordinary, nectar-like wines. They exhibit an orange marmalade, truffled, honeyed comb, super-sweet richness that is almost too intense to have with dessert. The wines will last 50+ years. Young folks, stock up for retirement!

Botrytis on the grape's skin causes the skins to shrink and the juice to become concentrated and high in sugar and extracts. The botrytis above was on grapes at Chateau d'Yquem in Sauternes. During harvest the 75 to 150 pickers will pick grapes each day that yield just 1 to 6 barrels of wine.

About Port

The English word "Port," covers a number of diverse styles of this fortified wine of Portugal. True "Port" is always from Portugal.

Port Styles

White=Made from white grapes aged one to two years. Some are aged longer for a nutty quality.

Ruby=Named for the color. Very fruity. Meant to be enjoyed young.

LBV=Late-bottled vintage. Red Port of a single vintage, vat-aged four-six years for smoothness with fruit.

Reserve/Vintage Character Young Port of multiple vintages with three-five years of wood aging.

Tawny=Young Port finished in a semi-sweet style.

Tawny with Age=The age (10 year, 20 year etc.) is the minimum time the wine has spent in barrel. Smooth with caramel notes.

Colheita=Single vintage Port aged in barrel until bottled. Very smooth.

Single Quinta Vintage=Red Port from a single estate and vintage.

Vintage: Top reds of a single vintage kept in cask for up to two years before bottling. Meant to be aged in the bottle and best when they are at least 15 years old; though they can age for decades. Vintage Port must be decanted to rid it of the bottle smelt.

Brother Timothy

took over the winemaking duties at the Christian Brothers winery in Napa Valley in 1935. He died at 94 on November 30, 2004.

Tokaji Esszencia is the liquid gold that oozes, drop by drop, viscous as oil, from a pile of grapes raisined by botrytis. The conditions for making Esszencia occur on the average just two or three times per decade. Two hundred pounds of shriveled grapes produces only a single bottle, the quintessence of the very ripest grapes. Fermentation is barely possible, as the juice is nearly three-quarters complex grape sugars. Fermentation of the 1999 Royal Tokaji Esszencia took six years to reach 2.8 percent alcohol. The wine has astonishing flavors with off-the-chart acidity. As one wine critic said, "It is so different from other wines that it is like seeing a new primary color."

OUR COLLECTION OF RARE OLD MADEIRAS OFFERED BY THE OUNCE

Many years have gone into securing our collection of fine old Madeira. Bottles have come from auction houses, rare wine dealers, great European cellars, and in some cases directly from private library collections of the producers on the Portuguese island of Madeira.

A fire at The Herbfarm on the night of January 6, 1997 destroyed much of what had been one of America's largest collections of vintage Madeira. Among these were many century-old bottles and some irreplaceable rarities.

But, fortunately, other bottles were stored offsite and survived... and through the good graces of friends and wine dealers we are making progress in restoring the collection of these fascinating bits of vinous history.

THE SIX GRAPES OF MADEIRA

Four principal grape varieties are grown on Madeira.

The original, the Malvazia or Malmsey, makes the richest; the Bual a less rich, more elegant but equally fragrant wine; Verdelho a soft, much drier wine with a faintly bitter finish; and the Sercial, a fine light wine with a distinct acid "cut." Sercials make fine pre-dinner apéritifs.

Two other very rare varieties were also grown: Terrantez and Bastardo. Both of these varieties were shy bearers that were not replanted when the vineyards were devastated by the root louse phylloxera in the mid- to late-19th century. Bastardo is closest in style to Malmsey; Terrantez tends to be between Bual and Verdelho.

1863 Barbeito Bual Madeira—not a Solera, but an actual wine of the vintage of 1863, the year President Lincoln proclaimed Thanksgiving a national holiday.

The oldest bottles in our cellar, and one of only a handful of this vintage remaining in the world. Fewer than two dozen bottles are known to exist. Think of it . . . George Washington was still president when this wine was made!

Note the 19th-century hand-woven closure over the cork on the 1890 Justino Henriques Boal Madeira.

The 1795 Terrantez probably all derived from one source originally and was then bought by different people on the island during the 19th century. At some stage it was transferred from cask into glass demi-johns and thence to bottle. Because the different stockholders treated their holdings in various ways (i.e., held the wine in wood or glass longer or shorter), the flavor of the bottlings vary. The 1795 Companhia Vinicola do Madeira was bottled between 1890 and 1930. As of the summer of 2005, five bottle were known to still exist in the world.

A Madeira for Madeira lovers.
A wonderful wine for your cellar, too.

Old Madeiras are among the planet's most intellectually and hedonistically satisfying wines. Virtually all other wines count their life spans in years. Madeiras count theirs in decades or even centuries, often surviving 150 years or more, becoming ever more sensual and complex. Madeira enjoys a unique bond with the United States, having been the wine of America from the early 1700s until the end of the 19th century. Still, few Americans know what Madeira is all about. Vintage Madeira is too rare to be widely experienced. And the 5- to 10-year-old blends that are commonly available seldom offer the magic of the vintage wines. Even expensive 15- and 20-year-old blends often bear little resemblance to Vintage Madeira.

Fortunately our friends and Madeira sleuths, Manny Berk and Paul Costigan, have spent years working to discover how to create an affordable Madeira with the flavors of a Vintage. After seemingly endless blending experiments with Ricardo Freitas, managing director of Vinhos Barbeito on the island itself, they discovered some superb but small lots of 30-, 40-year-old, and even older Madeiras that they put in the wine. Suddenly the wines changed completely, acquiring the aromatic fingerprint and tangy, velvety palate of great Vintage Madeira.

Even veteran Madeira lovers and cognoscenti will love this wine. The nose is classic cask-aged with vanilla, burnt sugar, toffee, and exotic overtones of cinnamon and clove. The wines have excellent weight and richness, classic tanginess, and a marvelous balance of sweetness and acidity. The beautiful mouthfeel leads to a long, refreshing finish.

DESSERT WINE OF MÁLAGA

Jorge Ordóñez

2004 Jorge Ordóñez, Moscatel Esencia No 4, Málaga, Andalucía, Spain $195
96 Wine Advocate

The 2004 Esencia de Almachar is Moscatel de Alejandria dried for 2 months in boxes, then fermented in French oak. The wine is an exceptional achievement in sweet wine and is crafted in conjunction with a partnership of the Kracher family of Austria. Medium orange in color, like marmalade, it offers up an enthralling nose of orange peel, candied fruit, dried peaches, and apricots. Thick and viscous, the wine manages to keep its focus. It has superb depth and concentration and a long, pure finish.

THOMAS HARDY'S VINTAGE ALE

A Legend Among Seekers of Fine Beer

The novelist Thomas Hardy wrote with enthusiasm about the beer of 'Casterbridge' in his Wessex novels. Thomas Hardy Ale was brewed first in 1968 at the request of the Thomas Hardy Society. It marked the 40th anniversary of the writer's death in 1928. Interest and demand was such that it is now brewed on an annual basis, though it was not made for a few years in the late '90s.

The ale is dry-hopped and warm-conditioned for 3 months and is pitched (fermented) 3 times with yeast: twice during fermentation and then during conditioning. It continues to condition in the bottle and the brewery recommends that it is laid down for 5 years. A new vintage is brewed annually and each bottle is individually numbered. When opened you experience a rich sherry or Madeira note beneath the intense peppery hop aroma. Thomas Hardy's Ale is a remarkable example of British craft brewing. Bottles from the '60s and '70s have fetched upwards of $1,000 each at auction.

It was of the most beautiful colour that the eye of an artist in beer could desire; full in body yet brisk as a volcano; piquant, yet without a twang; luminous as an autumn sunset.

WINE SENSORY EVALUATION TOOLS

Like many fly fishermen in western Montana where the summer days are almost Arctic in length, I often do not start fishing until the cool of the evening. Then in the Arctic half-light of the canyon, all existence fades to a being with my soul and memories and the sounds of the Big Blackfoot River and a four-count rhythm and the hope that a fish will rise. Eventually, all things merge into one, and a river runs through it. The river was cut by the world's great flood and runs over rocks from the basement of time. On some of those rocks are timeless raindrops. Under the rocks are the words, and some of the words are theirs. I am haunted by waters.
